[Shri S.B. Charan]

Rights Commission, the way they are handling the whole thing. They are looking into the matter, though in their own way. I must say that the paramilitary forces and the Army have been fighting against odds on the borders in a totally snow-bound area. They are discharging their duties in very very difficult conditions. We as a nation feel proud of them that they have done a find job. At least, I have no doubt about it. But at the same time I don't want to say that any excess committed by them is going to be condoned by the Government. The Human Rights Commission is absolutely clear in this matter. We are also clear in our mind. So far as their discharge of duty is concerned, we are totally appreciative of the efforts that they have put in. But, at the same time, they have to understand the implications of the problem and to see that innocent people, those who have nothing to do with these militant activities, are not harassed. If any such case is brought to our notice, either the Human Rights Commission will look into it or their administrative court-martial will look into it and the Government of India will also take a serious note of it. Let there be no doubt in anybody's mind that we are going to condone anybody. We have taken action against almost 170 officers. Right from termination, dismissal and reduction in ranks, a number of punishments have been meted out. So, there should be no difficulty no that score. But it is not enough. I think we will have to win the hearts of the local people and we can do it by expediting the development plans in that area. All infrastructural development activities will have to be undertaken.

I must really appreciate that the Railway Minister could understand—though I talked to him twice—that this Jammu-Udhampur link is very important. He will have to extend the same so that they get a feeling of oneness within India. Transport is one of the sectors which gives that kind of a psychology. This time he has allotted Rs. 50 crores to see that that area is covered and traffic survey of the rest of the area has been ordered by him. Though on the development plans I have a number of things where we are going to assist them in a big way, but I am sorry that I just don't have time. That is why I must express my gratitude that we have been able to cover this debate at a very high level, excepting a few instances which, I believe, inadvertently took place.
